

Greetings Mr. Alexander, I hope you are in good spirits and health when this letter reaches you. I apologize for this letter not being typed, please bare with my handwriting, grammar, and spelling.

1st Q- Re: Overwhelmed with joy and pride. It blows my mind to see my son playing on T.V.

2nd Q- Re: I believe the two biggest pieces of advice I gave him were, Always family first, and look at the big picture (meaning think of where you want your life and try to choose the best path to get there, not the quickest or most common for our environment).

3rd Q- Re: It means the world, but me and my son staying in touch was never in question. I raised him and his siblings and believe I am a good parent, even under my current circumstances, so it will always be family first between us.

4th Q- Re: I've watched him play in person since he was five years old pee-wee, I've been unable to do so since his 8th grade school year and it is extremely painful. It is a bitter sweet experience for me because I am unable to give him the full support he deserves, however he receives all the support I have to offer.

5th Q-Re: It showed commitment, I felt joy, love and pride. To play a part in such an important decision in my son's life meant the world to me, but for him to express the need for Fedora to come and visit with me to discuss the recruitment showed the love and bond me and my son share and let me know he appreciates my advice and direction. I understand the stigma prisons and inmates have has it relates to society so for Fedora to come kinda let my son see they really wanted him. I believed that visit sealed the deal along with the advice I gave him (the top receivers are all leaving a pass-happy offense and opportunity would be there) plus he knew I was a die-hard UNC basketball fan. Go Heels!!!

6th Q Re: We met for roughly an hour and a half, we discussed the vision they had for my son going forward, we discussed academics, I expressed the importance of family amongst our family and he assured me the football team was family and they wanted my son to be a part of it. My son did not commit that day, but I don't believe any other coach could have topped what Fedora accomplished by visiting with me

7th Q Re: I have watched two games this season (South Carolina and Wake Forest) but any time they are on ESPN 1 or 2 or any local channel (ABC, Fox, CBS) I would be able to watch.

8th Q Re: I seen the highlight on sportscenter, I thought it was a clutch play, awesome, I feel when he gets the opportunity he takes advantage of it.

9th Q Re: I never questioned if I would be part of my son's life or his siblings because as a man, regardless of my current situation, I am going to be a father to my kids. At the moment I accepted the plea I felt I put myself in a position to lose everything I loved and that I dissappointed alot of people but the relationships with the people who truly matter have remained strong.

10th Q Re: I believe I have grown, I feel I have bettered myself, I have recieved my Associates degree and am currently waiting to start on my Bachelor's in January.

11th Q Re: I hope for the best, him enjoying life while being successful.

I want to thank you for taking time and effort to involve me, I hope I was helpful.

Sincerely, Ronald Armstrong
